

"DROP IN TO SEE US"

People living in Newmarket, Epping, Durham, Exeter, Hampton, and all towns in Rockingham county, and York county, Me., are invited to drop in town this or next week. There is being held here a Winter Carnival that is different. It is a Carnival of Price Smashing. Local merchants want to show the people for miles around that when it comes to real goods no city in New England can outdo Portsmouth. Come by sleigh, steam or trolley. You will enjoy looking about and see for yourself. Plenty of time to attend the theatre. The best tonic in the world is to get out in the open these fine days. The Herald invites you to inspect its new plant.

TROOPS IN GERMANY ORDERED HOME

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS CLEAR

Weather Man Promises Breathing Spell to Follow Last Storm.

We are promised forty-eight hours of favorable weather, anyway. Although it will not be summer weather and entirely free from a spasm or two of unpleasantness, we have the word of the weather maker that no more blizzards are in sight during the specified time. That certainly is a relief to New England.

If you think the interurban roads have not had a battle to maintain service, just take a trip out into the districts served and see for yourself. On the road between here and Dover there are drifts as high as the top of the cars and it has taken some heroic work to even maintain the service given so far. On this line there is but little of the road traversing sheltered country and the wind had a wonderful opportunity to do its work. Down on the Portsmouth electric line, in the sections where the wind could gather the snow in piles, there are some slightly places. The company had to battle with real winter weather and the task has been one the road has not had to face for a few years. Most of the men who have been detailed to keep the road open say they hope it is not duplicated for a good many years to come.

The P. D. & Y. South Berwick line had not been opened this morning and those familiar with conditions there say there is a tremendous lot of work to be done. The crews went at the task today and it is expected that traffic will be resumed sometime today. At the same time, attention is given the York lines. The road has been somewhat handicapped because of the accident to the big snow plow, but the two others have been kept in motion all the time and are doing great work.

Patrons of the road through Elliot and Kittery are highly elated at the manner in which service has been maintained for them. They would not have been surprised if greater delays had been occasioned because there the wagon roads have not been opened as yet and it is hard to tell when they will be. The main traveled road from Portsmouth north through these towns is in fair condition, but all laterals are plugged.

Reports from other districts surrounding Portsmouth are not any too T. Newton reports that the county farm roads are blocked and it is impossible to reach there. He phoned this morning to learn that the roads are blocked with drifts, in some places higher than the head of the ordinary man. Even the 48-hour respite promised by the weather man may not help much.

The Wallis Sands life-saving station reports that there is a heavy storm out to sea. It was impossible to see the Isles of Shoals this morning from the station.

Fort Constitution reports that all roads are filled with drifts and there has been no attempt to reach the city. The great effort of the detachment at the fort has been to open the roads about the reservation.

Mr. Holgan said he was under obligation not to say whether or not De Valera was in the country now.

KLAN MEMBER IS SENTENCED

Faircloth, a farmer neighbor, had testified Moore entered his house at night in white robe and hood and warned him against utterances about the Ku Klux Klan.
Faircloth told the police he pointed a pistol at Moore's stomach and forced him to remove the hood and mask. He said he saw other figures outside the house.

According to the union president, the time would be decided by him after he had received reports from organizers sent into the southern fields two days ago with instructions to report back at once the local instructions.

President Harding Deems Time For American Occupation to End--Will Come Soon

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 10.—Withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine was ordered today by President Harding. In announcing his desire, the state department said that the President deemed the time expedient for the release of the forces now at Coblenz.

The American forces in that section number about 1,000 men and it was indicated that the order would be carried out as soon as the American commander, Major General Allen, could make the necessary arrangements for winding up finally the affairs of the army of occupation.

A resolution favoring such a move was adopted Saturday by the Senate, but it was not known whether this or the action of France contributed to the President's decision.

Coblenz, Jan. 10.—The order for the withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine, the news of which became known from a dispatch from the Associated Press at Paris, caused much excitement among the American army here.

NO GROUND FOR IMPEACHMENT

Washington, Jan. 9.—Dismissal of impeachment charges brought against Atty. Gen. Daugherty by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, is recommended to the House in a resolution adopted today, 12 to 2, by the Judiciary Committee which held public hearings on the charges last month. At the same time the committee approved, 11 to 2, a formal report of the House holding that that body has the power to punish Mr. Keller by imprisonment or otherwise for his refusal to obey a subpoena issued for him immediately after his dramatic withdrawal from the case on the third day of the hearings.

Both the resolution and the report will be submitted to the House tomorrow by Chairman Volstead, but whether there will be formal action on them appears now to be a moot question. Some committeemen are of the opinion that House action is unnecessary.

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE TO BE LIMITED

Commission is to De- mand Six Causes

Concord, Jan. 8.—The New Hampshire Divorce Commission, appointed two years ago by former Gov. Albert O. Brown of Manchester, has completed its investigation work, according to Mrs. Lois Lyman Patten of Nashua, secretary, and will be ready to submit its report to the State Legislature as soon as that body is ready to receive it.

Mrs. Patten declined to comment upon the findings of the commission, outside of the statement that the present causes of divorce, which number 14, would be recommended decreased to six causes.

The commission held several meetings during the past two years and received expressions of opinion from various citizens throughout the state. The late Joseph Madden of Keene was chairman until his death a few months ago. Probate Judge George A. Wagner of Manchester and Mayor

Fastest Pursuit Plane in World Gives America War Mastery of Sky

Skeleton View of New Curtiss Pursuit Plane, Showing Metal Construction.

The test performance of a new Curtiss Pursuit Plane has caused a sensation in the Army and Navy services. Ever since the Pulitzer Race at Detroit, in which a new all-American motor finished in the first four places, it has been expected that military planes of a super-type would make their appearance at almost any time. The actual performance of the first pursuit ship of a series surpasses expectation.

In many respects, this aeroplane is a departure from precedent. It uses the same Curtiss motor used in the racing ships at Detroit. It is equipped with wing radiators, the most radical advance in the art of cooling a motor since 1917, and which reduces the resistance of the air almost to zero. These features were expected. The construction, however, is said to possess, also, a new feature, in that the entire machine can be stored for a period of twenty years, if necessary.

Henri Burque of Nashua are among the members.

The Divorce Commission was appointed after a big storm of protest had been made by clergy and welfare workers of the state that New Hampshire was the land of easy divorce.

This machine is also stated to be the first real fighting ship of all-American construction and design. While tests are not completed, expert opinion is that it is not only the fastest, but also the most powerful fighting ship in existence in any nation today.

BOSTON IS CROWDED WITH SHIPPING

Boston, Jan. 9.—The greatest shipping boom since the days of the world war is now at its height at this port. Work for 2000 longshoremen can be had at the transatlantic terminals, it is said. At the rate of 70 cents an hour for day work and $1.05 for night-work, the pay envelopes of those now on the job are well filled.

The boom started when coal laden vessels from England and Wales arrived last summer. Coal has arrived by millions of tons since the miners' strike in this country.

A score of ships laden with wood-pulp, mostly from the Scandinavian countries, have arrived in the past few weeks, and the army base and the Commonwealth piers, where much of the freight is handled, are filled to overflowing, according to vessel owners.

British coal steamers have been forced to wait a week or 10 days in the harbor before obtaining docking facilities and many of them, rather than delay that long, have gone to other ports.

Since the closing of the St. Lawrence river there has been an increasing flow of grain through this port. More than a million and a half tons were shipped in one week in December.

At the Commonwealth pier more than 1000 men have been employed and nearly 30 vessels were unloaded during the past month. Passenger space has been taken over for freight. Piles of canned goods 50 feet high and shipments valued at between $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 have been stored at the Commonwealth pier at one time.

ROCHESTER

Rochester, Jan. 9.—George Lamper, a well-to-do farmer of Rochester hill, is recovering from the effects of poison which the authorities believe was self-administered in an attempt to commit suicide. The poison was declared to be strychnine powder. It is believed he will recover.

Lamper is declared to have been despondent for some time and this is said to be the third time he has attempted to take his own life. A short time ago he and his wife purchased a farm on Rochester hill, where they have since been residing.

B. & M. PROMOTES ANARCHY SAYS JUDGE REMICK

Concord, Jan. 8.—Judge James W. Remick, a trustee of the John H. Pearson fund which holds 2,500 shares of Boston & Maine Railroad stock, in a public statement made today said that if the Boston & Maine Railroad continues to refuse to meet its former employees in conference, it is inviting anarchy and chaos. Judge Remick states that the local shopmen came to him as a citizen and a railroad stockholder to assist in any way he could to secure a settlement of the differences which exist. In his statement he says:

"It should not be forgotten that above the interests of strikers, strike-breakers and the railroad are the interests of the public for whom and by whom the railroads were chartered. Not above any brotherhood, union or organization, is the human brotherhood and the union of American citizenship; that above any brotherhood, union or railroad is the flag of our country and above all the rules of the railroad service is the Golden Rule. In the light of these larger considerations, the duty of conference is the spirit and for the purpose proposed, is obvious. Such a conference with each party duly mindful of these larger considerations, could not fail to be beneficial to all. There can be no real or lasting reconstruction of anything, anywhere, that is not based on these larger considerations, and here can be no real and lasting industrial reconstruction, morals, or efficient service while labor and capital and different factions of labor are silently, resentfully, suspiciously and hatefully glaring at each other.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says glass of Salts helps to overcome Rheumatism acid.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

YORK VILLAGE

York Village, Jan. 10.—Miss Ruth Sturtevant returned to college after spending a few days at her home here.

The social meeting to be held by the Auxiliary of the American Legion has been postponed.

The basketball game scheduled to be played between the Bulldogs and New Castle did not take place because of the storm.

Everyone is working shoveling out the roads.

The light snowfall of Tuesday evening made the walking very bad.

The trains are now running on schedule time.

Mrs. Gilbert Moulton is confined to her home by illness.

Leon H. Blaisdell returned from Belgrade Tuesday.

A great many of the navy yard men did not get home Monday night, because the trains were blocked by the severe storm.

Any person living in the outlying districts where the snow is drifted and it is impossible to get out either by foot or with a team, and where it will take days to shovel out surely deserves sympathy. If they chance to have had plenty of coal or wood before the storm they could get along very well, but with a storm lasting for five days anyone without food or fuel is surely in a critical position.

Mr. Ingalls and his crew are doing fine work keeping the sidewalks cleaned off. Early yesterday he was busy on the job and has succeeded in cleaning them out around the village.

Edward C. Moody has gone to the Legislature, where he is serving a second term. Mr. Moody is one of York's most respected citizens. He has the interest of the people of York County at heart and during his last term did his best to put forward the things that were for their interest. There is probably no other man in York who can tell more of its history and customs than Mr. Moody. He has written a history of York, a book which should be on the shelves of every home library.

Mrs. C. E. Moody has rooms at the Balentine home during the absence of her husband.

48-HOUR LEGISLATION SHOULD NOT BE ENACTED

BECAUSE IT WILL AUTOMATICALLY REDUCE WAGES PAID TO WORKERS AT ANY POINT WITHIN THE STATE.

The successful operation of a factory cannot always be confined to stated hours. Among the industries of the State, there are those who are now operating on 48 hours, all or a part of the time or at least in some departments. These will continue on that basis and need no legislation.

Others absolutely cannot run on this schedule and pay their help. A factory so affected can do one of three things; (1) liquidate and go entirely out of business; (2) move to a state where conditions are more favorable, or (3) reduce wages to a figure proportionate to the hourly rate.

In industry, what will do for one will not do for another. The law does not force its citizens to accept the same religion, political party of system of dietetics.

Labor is a factor in manufacturing costs running in some lines of industry as high as 80 per cent of the whole. In other lines it is less but when an industry in New Hampshire is forced to compete on a schedule of 48 hours with other factories making the same or similar lines of goods operating in states having labor hours running from 54 to 62, the factory is put entirely out of the running and there is loss to the stockholders, the townspeople and the workers alike. While returns are not yet all in from the industries which would be affected by the proposed 48-hour law, those thus far reporting would indicate that under such a law with wages reduced to the 48-hour basis, workers in the State of New Hampshire would receive $3,650,000 per year less than they are now from the same industry under the present law.

This means that the earning power of the workers for themselves and their families will be reduced $3,650,000 annually under a 48-hour law. Not only are the workers unfavorably affected but every merchant, doctor, lawyer, farmer or mechanic depending for a living upon the circulation of money in his particular community is also unfavorably affected.

The farmer finds his customers have less money to buy milk and produce. Churches, charities or other welfare organizations who are dependent upon continued employment of their constituents at good wages, to carry on their good work, are also seriously affected. It is a vital thing to all of the above and to many others besides.

STATE DEVELOPMENT WOULD BE SERIOUSLY IMPAIRED.

This is no idle dream. The Association has gleaned DEFINITE FACTS on projected manufacturing development in New Hampshire—new factories, additions to existing plants, which will be definitely held up until the attitude of the legislature is known. Those reporting to date amount to a total of $4,258,615.27. There are other additions of this character which have not yet been reported. The foregoing facts are absolute. It is stated definitely that the projects included in this tabulation WILL NOT BE MADE if the 48-hour law is enacted.

48-HOUR LEGISLATION INCREASES BURDEN.

If industries are forced to move from the State by adverse legislation every one in the State is made poorer by the increase of the tax burden for those who are left. Frequently in a town or village the leading industry or a group of industries pay a large portion of the taxes. If the business is liquidated the tax is distributed among those who remain and every one must bear his share of the extra burden.

AN INJURY, BEYOND REPAIR, TO NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A mandatory 48-hour law will work permanent, irreparable injury to New Hampshire by sending some of our best manufacturers out of the State, by the actual closing or liquidating of quite a number of smaller struggling concerns. Further development will be restricted and the State will be definitely advertised as a community distinctly hostile to new industries. The New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association has definite knowledge of organizations who have been contemplating starting manufacturing properties in New Hampshire but who are at present holding aloof solely on account of the present 48-hour law agitation and who will not enter the State if such a law is enacted.

FORD

106,327 Ford Cars and Trucks
Retailed in November

This volume of deliveries to actual owners is entirely unprecedented for this time of the year—

It has taxed the manufacturing ability of the Ford plants working at full capacity—

And that means a Ford shortage even more acute than the one which existed last Spring and Summer.

Dealers' stocks all over the country are low—there are no reserves to draw upon to meet the demands for delivery—

The only way you can protect your desire to obtain prompt delivery of a Ford even at this time is to place your order immediately.

— We believe you are entitled to know these facts as they actually exist.

Poor Old Sherlock.
Sherlock Holmes has had a great many admirers since he began his work of unravelling crimes that no one else could fathom. Admiration is best shown by imitation and, in this manner, Sherlock has been admirably flattered. But now comes wonderful deduction developments that have our old friend, the English detective, groggy.
During the celebration incident to the advent of the new year, there were some fifty or more hotels and restaurants of New York which stepped on the toes of the Volstead law. Obviously, it is necessary to drag these offenders into the courts and administer proper punishment. At the same time, it is necessary to find the "pipe line" from which they secured the supply.
Here is where Old Sherlock is shoved into the garbage can. The fifty or more managers of the hotels and restaurants are to be served with subpoenas and asked to furnish a list of holders of reservations; thence, the holders of these reservations will be subpoenaed to give a list of their guests; thence, the guests will be subpoenaed—well, the deduction is that all will tell where they got their booze and the mystery will be solved.
Sherlock Holmes would never have thought of a scheme of that kind. It is a wonderful one and will work when the year 2023 has whiskers on it.

Tax Free Securities.
Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has advanced a course of action which is sure to meet with the approval of the rank and file of the American people when he urges that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the state legislatures barring the further tax exemption of securities by congress.
During the war there was an excuse for the exemption from income and surtaxes of the various government bonds floated for the purpose of providing funds with which to carry on the conflict. Tax exemption provided a means of making an issue of government bonds especially attractive and their ready sale at a high figure was assured.
The coming of peace has changed all this. There is no longer any excuse for permitting the issuance of tax free securities. The exigencies of the war period are over and the only effect of issuing tax exempt securities now is to encourage tax dodging. By means of tax exempt securities a man of wealth is able to so invest his money that he is untouched by the government taxing machinery, while a less fortunate individual, working on a salary, is obliged to pay to the federal treasury a stated portion of his income.
Tax exempt securities had their place in the wartime scheme of things. Their place has disappeared, however, and if congress senses the will of the people a right it will act on Secretary Mellon's recommendation.

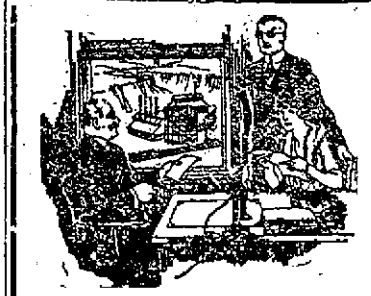

Uniform Warnings.
A concerted effort, sponsored by various associations of automobilists, is afoot to unify the existing systems of road signs. It is a commendable movement and should be accorded wide support.
In almost every state of the union different types of warnings for intersection roads, railroad crossings, curves, etc., are displayed. The plan under consideration would standardize all this so that a railroad crossing in the east would be marked in exactly the same manner as a railroad crossing in the west. The need for the reform is obvious. It should be encouraged.

How many of us could name offhand the Treasurer of the United States without looking at one of the bills, $1 or $100, that we carry in our pockets?—Boston Globe.
Where do you get the stuff that makes a man write that way?
One day we hear reports that thousands are jobless in this country and the next comes the demand to open our immigration doors to relieve the scarcity of labor. Which way, David?
Prof. Foote, of Harvard, who said the idle rich belong in the tramp class, hit the nail an awful wallop on the head.
After all, Robinson Crusoe was not so terribly out of luck.
Now, all together—"Day by day—etc."
They are still talking of peace in Ireland.
Europe still hopes we can intervene—financially.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE TO HAVE LOBBYIST IN N. H.
Concord, N. H., Jan. 9.—The Rev. J. H. Robins of Concord, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today filed with the secretary of state a legislative agent working in the interest of prohibition laws, being the first to enter upon his rolls as a lobbyist at the 1923 session of the Legislature. He was soon followed by John L. Barry of Manchester and William H. Riley, Concord, members of the legislative committee of the State Federation of Labor.
There were some dangerous snow slides on Tuesday but fortunately no body was injured. Many of the blocks required to have their gutters cleared.

EMERSON HOVEY POST INSTALLS
New Officers of Foreign Wars Veterans Assume Duties

The public installatory exercises of Emerson Hovey Post, No. 168, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held Tuesday evening at the Memorial Home and despite the adverse weather conditions a good number were present, while many others who planned to attend were unable to be there owing to the bad travelling.
Commander John S. Buzzell of John W. Christie Post, Dover, was the installing officer and conducted the installation in an able manner.
The following officers were installed: Commander—James R. Baird
Senior Vice Commander—Thomas F. Morrissey
Junior Vice Commander—Morris Herman
Chaplain—Edward C. Holmes
Quartermaster—Francis C. Malley
Officer of the Day—Peter Petroni
Trustee for 18 months—H. Liljeblut
Trustee for 1 year—Morris Herman
Trustee for 6 months—Frank Vinciguerra.
Hugo Liljeblut, retiring commander of the Post, was presented with a past commander's pin by Mr. Malley, also a past commander of the organization and in behalf of the Post. The tribute was received with much appreciation and pleasure and Mr. Liljeblut spoke of the fine spirit of comradeship shown him in the past year and he hoped the coming year of the Post would be most successful.
Commander Baird was the next speaker and voiced his appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him as Commander of the Post and stated that he should endeavor to be worthy of it. He referred to the late Ensign Emerson Hovey, U. S. N., for whom the Post was named, and the heroism displayed by this young officer when duty called and he gave his life.
Both the army and navy were represented at the gathering. Col. Sayre, commanding officer at Fort Constitution, and Captain Hunt of the local navy yard represented the navy, being special guests of the Post.
Captain Hunt was called upon to speak and told of his pleasure at being present at the installatory exercises of this Post, named in honor of a young naval hero. He referred to the veterans of foreign wars and to all having been in places of danger and he wished success to the Corps. Captain Hunt told of his liking for New England and while a new comer in this part of the country, he had found the people most hospitable and friendly here.
Col. Sayre was the next speaker and he gave a most interesting talk on the U. S. Army and which was also listened to with much appreciation.
Commander W. H. Smith of Storrs Post, No. 1, G. A. R., was next called upon to speak as a representative of that organization. He told of the large membership of Storrs Post about 40 years ago and that so many, having died, today that organization has dwindled down to a small group of these Civil War Veterans. He spoke words of appreciation for the Emerson Hovey Post and wished it success.
Commander Chauncey B. Hoyt, representing Camp Schley, Spanish War Veterans, referred to the great work of the G. A. R. in the past, and told of the spirit of fraternity among all the veterans. Mrs. Henry E. Hovey was a guest of honor of the Post on this occasion and expressed her appreciation of the work of the Post and her pleasure at being at the installatory exercises of the organization named in memory of her only son.
A social time followed and a buffet lunch of ham sandwiches, cheese, sandwiches, assorted cake, fancy cookies, harlequin ice cream, fruit punch and coffee was served. The members of the Post were most hospitable to their guests and left no effort undone to make the evening a pleasant one to the gathering.
The committee of arrangements was Commander J. R. Baird, chairman, assisted by F. C. Malley, John McCann, Edward C. Holmes and Thomas Morrissey.
The Misses Fannie Siegel and Pauline Miller rendered piano selections during the social hour which added interest to the occasion.
The Emerson Hovey Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, No. 168, was organized in July 1919 on the steamship Kienloip. It was named in memory of Ensign Emerson Hovey, U. S. N., son of Mrs. Louise F. and the late Rev. Henry Emerson Hovey. The young man was killed in the Philippines in the performance of his duty.
This Post had a membership of nearly 450 members at one time, but due to transfers in the Navy this diminished and it now numbers about 100 members. The Post has meetings twice a month. It is soon to start a drive for membership at Fort Constitution with the permission of Col. Sayre.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

THIS WEEK is National Thrift Week. Our contribution to this worthy cause is the following message addressed in all sincerity to our customers:
Although it is impossible for us to regulate the amount of gas that you use, we do urge you to take care that your consumption does not exceed your actual needs.
In other words, we want you to get the most out of the gas you use; we want you to make your gas bills thrive.
We desire this because a careless, wasteful use of gas results in big bills, complaints, delayed payments and other expenses which, when taken together, mean dissatisfied customers.
Satisfied customers constitute our best asset. They are worth more to us than any revenue derived from gas which is wasted.

FORT CONSTITUTION

The snow storm was on of the most severe that has been known here for years. Traffic has been stalled and it was impossible to get even a team through until yesterday.
The basketball game, which has been postponed three times on account of the storm, is to be played this evening in the armory.
The new moving picture machine is on the road and it is expected it will be set up in about a week. This will provide a theatre for the Army and Navy, as well as the civilians of the surrounding towns.
The snow of today is not very bad as yet.
There is no need of anybody who is able to handle a shovel loading at the present time. The railroad and street department have been using all the men who applied in the past few days.

FIRST CLASH ON 48-HOUR LAW
Ex-Gov. Bass Introduces Bill for Fact Finders

Concord, N. H., Jan. 9.—First clash over the 48-hour law, slated to be chief feature of this legislative session, came in the House today following an invocation by one of its clerical members, Rev. C. B. Estler of Claremont.
Ex-Gov. Robert P. Bass of Peterborough, Republican, and ex-progressive, offered a resolution for a fact finding commission, composed of two Senators, two Representatives and a fifth member to be appointed by the Governor, to investigate all matters pertaining to the 48-hour law, pro and con, and report to the present Legislature.
Mr. Bass moved his resolution be referred to the Standing Committee on Labor with instructions to report next Tuesday forenoon, at which time it shall be a special order. His motion was seconded by Ex-Congressman Raymond B. Stevens of Landaff, Democrat, and prevailed on a viva voce vote after Michael McNulty, Democrat, of Ward 5, Manchester, had protested vigorously, saying that not only the members of the Legislature, but also the people in general had found the facts for themselves in regard to the 48-hour law, and had given a verdict in its favor on election day.
A little later, Hon. James O. Lyford of Concord, Republican floor leader, offered a resolution for a commission similar in purpose, but made up of members outside the Legislature, representing labor unions, manufacturers' association and agricultural interests. The House refused this resolution a second reading on a viva voce vote but after William A. Lee of Concord, a Democratic leader, had explained the rules of legislative etiquette, it was allowed to go to the Committee on Labor in company with that of Gov. Bass.
House Bill Number 1, to establish a 48-hour work week for women and children, was then introduced by Hon. William H. Barry of Nashua and referred to the Committee on Labor.
Among other bills introduced in the House today were acts to reenact the usury law, repealed in 1921, fixing the legal rate of interest at 6 percent; to provide a revision of public statutes; to exempt live stock from taxation and to provide for a court of industrial relations.
In the Senate resolutions similar to those of Messrs. Bass and Lyford were introduced by Senators Orr and Hammond, and referred to the Committee on Labor. Senate Bill Number 1 is to revise the charter of the city of Berlin and was introduced by Senator Coulombe of that city.

NEWINGTON

Newington, Jan. 10.—The annual church meeting was held at the parsonage on Jan. 2 and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Moderator, Rev. Mr. Donnell.
Treasurer, Mr. Furber.
Clerk, Jackson Hoyt.
Deacon for two years, Mr. Furber.
Church committee, Mrs. Packard, Mrs. Furber, Ida Nutter and Mrs. Donnell.
Auditors—Mrs. Jackson Hoyt, Miss Mary Pickering.
Music committee, Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Hoyt.
Finance committee, May Fink, chairman.
Rev. Mr. Donnell read a report of his year's work amongst us, which was very satisfactory and interesting.

Manning Hoyt of Somersworth had been a frequent visitor in town.

Snow, snow everywhere. The citizens, with their teams, are kept busy breaking out the roads, for almost as soon as a good road is made more snow comes and the roads are full again and the same work is repeated.

The schools were supposed to open after the two weeks vacation, but owing to the condition of the roads did not. It is hoped that they will open on Wednesday.

The Reapers' Society will meet with Mrs. Donnell, if possible, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. George H. Maarden of Everett and John Rowe and mother of Haverhill were called here on Saturday to attend the funeral of their aunt, Miss Harriet Pickering.

The death of Miss Harriet A. Pickering occurred on Thursday morning. She was one of our most esteemed citizens, having lived a long life. For years, owing to impaired health, she was not able to enter into active work and for seven years, owing to an injury to her hip, she had been confined to her bed just waiting for the summons to come and to answer to the call which last week bore her to the realms where sickness is no more. She bore her years of suffering uncomplainingly and her friends and relatives will never forget the pleasant cheery manner with which she always greeted them when they visited her. She learned not to be afraid and not to repine over her long illness, but with cheerful submission to His Will endeavored to make the best of her broken life by leaving behind the memory of her patient cheerfulness and her interest in all that concerned her home town and those whom she loved. The memory of her life will live on and her influence for good cannot fail to help others. Miss Pickering was a member of the Congregational Church and many can recall her usefulness in church work. She was a worker and teacher in the Sunday school, a faithful and willing worker in the Reapers' Circle, and her kindness and sympathy in times of trouble, sickness and sorrow will never be forgotten. Although so ready and willing to do active work she was called upon to do the hardest of all things, to be set aside and suffer and wait. With God-given grace and strength she was not only able to endure patiently but to acquiesce cheerfully to her Heavenly Father's will. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and interment was in the family lot.

speed through the huge banks of snow which flanked the streets.

In Portland, Me., the storm by nightfall had reached such intensity that nine trolley lines were blocked and all small crafts in the harbor resembled a fleet of icebergs. Delayed trains caused the postponement of theatre performances and resulted in a collision of street cars in which four were hurt. More than six inches of snow had fallen early in the evening, making a total of 60 inches for the winter.

the greatest demands for lumber remain in the Central and Eastern states. The nation's lumber shipment in 1920, a recent Forest Service study shows, was no less than 2,070,000 carloads; and the average haul for each carload was 485 miles. According to the best estimate the Forest Service is able to make, the freight bill on lumber for that year was $275,000,000. This sum merely gives one measure of the cost of treating our forests as mines instead of timber farms. A fraction of this sum wisely invested each year in forest protection and rehabilitation would grow timber where it is needed, reduce the nation's freight bill, cheapen lumber and release vast amounts of railroad equipment and labor for unavoidable transport. Coal and iron can not be grown, but timber can be."

NEW ENGLAND BURIED

New Hampshire floundered again Monday in the face of a blizzard which swept New England and wrought havoc in many sections of the northern states. Yesterday's storm was the 15th recorded in this locality since winter started. Beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning the storm increased in intensity until at 4 o'clock in the afternoon a depth of seven inches covered the ground. Streets and highways, which had been broken out after Saturday's storm, disappeared again under the snow and the outskirts of the city resembled great deserts of white.

In Laconia the total snowfall for the day had reached a depth of 10 inches at midnight and snow drifts had piled up six feet. All traffic in that city was at a standstill.

Keene, which had previously escaped two severe storms, was buried beneath the blizzard and traffic schedules on both the steam and electric railways were forgotten by the two companies, who struggled with the eight inches of heavy snow in an effort to supply service to the few travelers who were compelled to journey in the storm.

Concord weathered the storm without any serious harm. Although a stiff wind caused some fear that the snow would drift and tie up all train and traction service, the plows operated over the city's streets made street car service possible throughout the storm. In that city, a railroad center, trains entering from all sections of the state carried thick coatings of snow.

Reclaiming spirits proved expensive for Ellis Gukis and Myer Cohen of 677 St. Dominique street. Their miniature distillery, consisting of a 60-gallon still and another of 50 gallons, was raided by D. J. Kearney of the inland revenue department and seized. They were both fined $350 and the costs of the court with the option of six months in jail when they entered a plea of guilty to operating an illicit still before Judge Enright.

The reclaiming spirit, which would be manufactured from liniments used for abrasions, bruises and other injuries, was being re-distilled and the product turned into beverages to be shipped to those who suffer under the Volstead act.

Goods seized were: One 60-gallon still, one 50-gallon still, one automobile truck, 2000 one-gallon tins, a large number of 5-gallon tins, 2 gas stoves used under the stills; 2 new gas stoves just ready to set up, 25 gallons of 65 o. p. alcohol, 50 dozen empty bottles. All these goods were Protection against wind and snow is assured by the snug-fitting storm curtains that open with the doors. Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation
Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every so often. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I do not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Busch, Jr., 11 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.

A Sickly Child
Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. GEORGE E. WHITACRE, 621 W. Madison Ave., Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner.

For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value. Let it help your daughter and yourself.

Better Plaster Better Jobs

Syanize Plaster, a discovery of the United States Gypsum Company Laboratories, makes a wall of supreme durability and economy.

Unlike ordinary plaster, which deteriorates from moisture while in storage and requires constant reduction in the amount of sand that can be added, Syanize Plaster continues to carry a standard amount of sand, even though stored for a year.

For this reason its use results in maximum strength and economy.

Syanize Plaster is easiest to mix, easiest to apply and makes walls of life time durability.

OIL SHALE READY WHEN OTHER SUPPLY DIMINISHES

Washington.—When the flow of that liquid gold known as petroleum gives sign of slackening, and as a consequence the nation's millions of automobiles and tractors—and motor busses seem likely to diminish for lack of fuel, the far-reaching reserves of oil shale in the United States stand out as the most important resources of substitutes for petroleum oils, says the United States Bureau of Mines.

These shales, veritable untapped reservoirs of oil, underlie enormous areas of the country. Those of the most economic importance occur in Colorado, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming. Great areas of black shale occur, however, in various eastern states, notably Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio, and other shales are found in many states. The great economic importance of oil shales is that when the industry is properly developed, the United States will have a new domestic supply of mineral oils, which cannot be cut off in time of war, and which will always be ready to help meet the nation's demand for oil.

"There is good reason to believe that in the next several years the domestic production of petroleum will decrease, while the demand for its production will increase," the bureau officials declare, "and oil shales can well make up for the deficiency of crude petroleum as a source of refined mineral oil products."

The future of the oil shale industry in this country will depend primarily upon the relative supply of, and demand for, petroleum products in the regions remote from the seaboard, according to the bureau. However, even under the most favorable conditions, development of American shale oil must be slow, it was added. Although this can be hastened by the employment of specialists, the proper kind of experimental work, and sincere co-operation and mutual helpfulness among oil shale operators.

To produce oil from shales the industry would have to approach the country's annual coal production, if a great demand is to be met. Merely 1,100 shale retorting plants each putting through 1,000 tons of shale every day in the year, would be necessary to meet the present rate of petroleum production. These figures are based on an assumption that the shale mined would yield an average of 12 gallons of oil per ton. The total quantity of shale to be mined, then, would reach 400,000,000 tons.

This would also require investment of great sums of capital to make the shale oil industry one of commercial consideration. It is probable that the investment necessary for an oil shale retorting and refining plant will approximate $3,000 per barrel of shale oil daily capacity, bureau experts figure. The present annual production of domestic petroleum is at the rate of over 400,000,000 barrels. The investment in retorts and refineries alone for an industry to approach this magnitude would be more than $3,000,000,000. This does not include estimated cost of lands, opening and developing mines; nor does it include the cost of developing subsidiary industries, without which a shale-oil industry could not exist.

Oil shale is a compact, laminated rock of sedimentary origin yielding over 33 per cent of ash and containing organic matter that gives oil when

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

TRIMMING THE UNEMPLOYED

GETTING HIS NUMBER.

Confessions of a Confidence Man--- People Hunting Real Jobs Are Most Often His Victims---How "Hotel Employee" Trick Is Worked.

A GUN TO SCARE THE KIDS WAY

"LOOK HERE, BILL, THIS IS NOT RIGHT!"

THERE is food, there is drink, and there is love, and the greatest of these is—food.

Come what may, men must eat. To eat it is usually essential to have a penny or so. Since, in these bad times, it is sometimes hard to turn an honest penny, one can partly excuse a man for turning a dishonest penny. One can partly excuse him, I say, if one remembers that men must eat.

The latest wrinkle in the gentle art of turning dishonest pennies (or pounds—mayhap) is the trimming of the unemployed. It can not be performed successfully without some skill and finesse.

But, O gentle reader, you will think that the unemployed must be hard to trim since the trimmings are few and far between and since such trimmings as they once had have been consumed by the necessities of life. Ah—you are right; there is where the skill comes in, there is where the trimmer shows his finesse. He must know at a glance whether or not the trimmer will bear a trimming. But this, I fear, is getting cryptic. Let me explain with an example.

Mr. Smith is a "confidence man," a master trimmer. He takes to cross-barred waistcoats and flashing diamonds as easily as a mouse takes to cheese. This Mr. Smith awoke one morning to find that he did not have the price of a dinner. He could have breakfast and lunch, but no dinner. His day would be completely ruined if he had to start off with the knowledge that he could have no dinner. And, being a man with a naturally cheerful disposition, he hated the prospect.

Accordingly he lay snug and still and—thought.

Then he dressed and shaved with care, and summoned a friend by telephone. The friend appeared and they conferred briefly. Then the friend,

Bill, went to the Hotel Grandiose and Smith his first month's pay, if he got Mr. Smith joined a throng of bench hounds in the park.

The man he sat next to looked poor, but honest.

"Fine day," said Mr. Smith.

"It may be a fine day for them as has jobs," said the park bench sitter. "It may be a fine day for them as has no wife and children depending on 'em. It may be a fine day for them as hasn't been out of work for four months. It ain't no fine day for me."

Mr. Smith fairly oozed sympathy. "I'd had my job for five years, I had. And what's more I'd be there yet if the factory had not closed down. I'd saved some, too. I dunno where we'd be if it were not for me savings. I've got enough to last me for a little while longer. When it's gone, where'll I be?" You don't know of no job do you, governor?"

"Why, let me see," said Mr. Smith meditatively. "Er—I have a friend who wants a man. I don't know why

Accordingly they wended their way to the Hotel Grandiose and found the confederate, Bill, walking up and down the lobby with his hat off looking exactly like a proprietor. The park bench sitter was introduced to the "manager," who asked him questions as to the integrity of his character, etc. Everything was fixed up very quickly. He was to return in the afternoon with letters of reference, $200 for his benefactor, Mr. Smith, and the "manager" was to have a contract for a year, to be signed.

He returned in a few hours with the letters and cash and the manager handed him a typewritten contract.

"Better let me look it over," whispered Mr. Smith.

"Look here, Bill, this is not right," he went on, addressing the "manager," "you said this man would get $200 a

Who Put the Fire in Fireflies?

WHO put the fire in fireflies and the glow in glow worms?

If he were living today he easily could become a millionaire over night.

Because the light produced by these tiny creatures is in many respects the most perfect the world has ever known.

The animal light produced by these living organisms is known as cold light, because it produces no heat.

And right there's where its value lies.

For every gas or arc or electric light that man produces wastes a large proportion of its energy in useless heat, instead of converting it into light.

The more heat, the less light. And the less heat, the more light.

So, you see, the light produced by fireflies and glow worms is almost 100 per cent efficient.

If we could learn the secret of these tiny organisms, it would mean saving millions of dollars every year in illumination.

Here's an opportunity for you if you've a scientific mind and if you want to make a fortune out of an interesting hobby.

The light given off by glow worms and fireflies is called bioluminescence. That's pronounced bi-o-loom-i-ness-ens, with the accent on the "nes." It means "light of life."

Besides fireflies and glow worms, this light is produced by certain fish, animals and bacteria. The glow worm is nothing but a larva or baby firefly, but the organ producing the light is quite different in the two creatures.

In the firefly the light merely shines through the skin, which is transparent. Certain cells near the skin are devised especially for producing light.

These cells are filled with a luminous substance which, when the proper chemical reaction takes place, glows brilliantly.

Scientists have devoted much research to analyze the substance that produces this glow, but the ultimate chemical composition is highly complex and more or less of a mystery.

Scientists likewise have made a detailed examination of these light-producing organs and have found that the cells are very complicated and very beautifully designed.

Men of learning say "the light cells proper are often equipped with reflectors, lenses, opaque screens and color screens."

So everything that man has devised to perfect his artificial light-giving apparatus has existed millions of years in these light-producing organisms on a small but perfect scale.

Why has nature provided these little creatures with lights? Many theories have been advanced.

The lights may be:

A warning to drive away other animals that would eat these creatures.

A sex signal to facilitate mating.

A lantern to guide the creature on its way.

"WHY HE MOVED OUT AND WENT TO NEW ORLEANS THREE DAYS AGO"

you should not get the job. He's the manager of the hotel down here and he wants someone to look after the silver and towels and things to see if he can prevent the losses. People take 'em, you know. He'd pay you $200 a month, at least. Would you—er—would you pay me for getting you this job? The only trouble is that you might have to sign up for a year."

Would the park bench sitter do it? He'd say he would. He would give Mr.

month—and here you have it written down $150."

The park bench sitter was positively cringing, he was so grateful to his new-found friend.

He was told to appear for duty the next day; but the next day the clerk told him that there was no manager, proprietor, guest or employee in the hotel answering the description of "Bill."

In the meantime, Mr. Smith had bought himself a good dinner and had journeyed to a distant metropolis. He had rented an office and inserted blind advertisements in the papers, offering positions. The next morning, his office was flooded with applicants.

He presented each applicant with a questionnaire; in this way he discovered whether or not the trimmer had any trimmings to be trimmed. Among the questions were several educational ones. One was, "Who discovered America?"

"DAMN THATTA GUY COLOMBO"

An Italian, when he came to this point, started to emit many and strange oaths. On being asked what ailed him, he replied:

"Thissu guy discov America! Not be for him me not be here in all thissu troub. No work, no money, no wine. Damn thatta guy Colombo!"

Mr. Smith told the applicants who had some ready cash that he had positions for them in the South for good pay. All they had to do was to agree to pay him a commission—anywhere from $25.00 to $50.00.

They were told to appear "en masse" the morning of February 15. A special train had been engaged and their tickets would be given them.

The morning of the 15th dawned, cold and clear. With all manner of hand bags, trunklets, paper parcels, tearful wives and sweethearts, the trimmer appeared at the office. She is being raffled off.

The office boy of the legitimate new tenants was amazed at the double throng.

"Mr. Smith?" said he. "Oh, I see. You're looking for a job? Why, he moved out and went to New Orleans three days ago."

But the office boy was wrong. Mr. Smith had not gone to New Orleans. He was already established in a hotel in Chicago. He had already made a sympathetic acquaintance with a man who wanted a political job.

Was Mr. Smith acquainted with the District Attorney? Was he certainly was. Had only roomed with him for four years at college.

Yes, he'd get him a job. Twenty-five dollars would do it.

He took him to the City Hall and told him to wait by the elevator. When he went upstairs to arrange for an interview. In a few moments he returned to ask for his watch as he had put his employment number on it for identification purposes. Then Mr. Smith went upstairs again and came down back way; the trimmer never saw him trimmer, his job, or his watch again.

A week later, Mr. Smith met two Chinamen who wanted—nothing at this time—but a gun to scare the small boys who harassed them. Mr. Smith sold them a relic of the Civil War that was parked in the park. The next day a policeman refused to grant the astonished Chinamen to carry their property in a truck.

These are just examples of the skill, precision and finesse of Mr. Smith, master confidence man. And should you remonstrate with him, best ever so tactfully, about his unusual profession, he would reply, "Men must eat, you know."

Which simply goes to prove that eating is the root of all evil.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

Many a man sets up a rear long before the world tries to make a lion of him.

Some people never reach the age of discretion. They never get old enough to know better.

No, Maude, dear, there is no similarity between the naked truth and a barefaced lie.

Even when a man succeeds in making both ends meet he can't always keep them together.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

The Galahad Club of the Farragut School has opened its season but, contrary to the usual rule this club has too many members instead of planning for more. This boys' club is a problem and I am going to refer to it hoping that some one will see a way out and help Miss Mildram, principal of the school, and the teaching staff who have worked so untiringly for its success.

The problem is not that the club is a failure. On the contrary so big a success is it that former Galahad boys wish to come back as members. Last year the club numbered nearly 50, this number including boys who formerly were members, but later students in Junior High School, and several of the freshman class at High School came back to join. This year Miss Mildram feels that unless the club membership is limited to sixth grade Farragut school boys it will require more spare time from the teaching force than they feel able to give.

Now no one is more enthusiastic over the club than Miss Mildram and when she has to refuse admittance from former pupils, who write asking to come back she feels it keenly. The club meets in the kindergarten room and with limited space and not enough workers to supervise the gatherings and aid in planning the activities so large a group cannot well be taken care of by the teachers.

The Galahad Club was organized nearly 11 years ago by Miss Mildram with boys of one grade. From the first it was a success and the teachers worked to aid the club both in and out of the school. All its meetings and socials were held under the supervision of the teachers, who feel rather disheartened that the club must be reduced to nearly half its membership of the past year.

Perhaps the difficulty may be overcome if some organization or group of workers will lend some assistance and the club have meetings two nights a week instead of one. These boys are from the ages of 12 to 15 years—a vital age; they are the men of tomorrow and there is need of emphasizing a strong American citizenship in the years ahead. It seems hardly the right thing to keep many out of the club but the teachers cannot give too much of their time. Here is a chance for some fine community work in helping mould the citizenship of the future and aid these young boys to become strong and stalwart men. Visit the school if you are interested to give service of this kind and Miss Mildram will be only too glad to tell you about this live wire club.

Mrs. Agnes Parker, past national president of the Woman's Relief Corps, much enjoyed her recent brief visit to this city, and I am sure, all who were present at the joint installatory exercises of the Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., and its Auxiliary, Storer Relief Corps, No. 5, appreciated the opportunity of hearing her speak. Mrs. Parker not only has a delightful personality but much executive ability. During the World War she was active in aiding in the Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives, giving many stirring patriotic addresses to aid in these causes.

At the national convention of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. in Des Moines last September she, as national president, presided at the W. R. C. gathering. At the opening meeting, just as she was introduced from a decorative arrangement above her head fell hundreds of tiny silk flags at the touch of a button, this being in her honor. "Don't let one fall to the floor," said the national president, and she caught a number herself, while others about her caught more and not one did touch the floor.

Mrs. Parker was much pleased with the Memorial Building and the idea that it was for the allied patriotic organizations. She liked to see the younger veterans showing so much consideration for those who fought in the Civil War as it showed the right and fine spirit. Her first view of the building was from Jenkins avenue. The ground, covered with a mantle of snow made the surroundings picturesque. As she looked toward the brilliantly lighted building she remarked of its beauty and its exterior possibilities and hoped in time its surroundings may be even more improved.

Mrs. Parker resides in Boston but is conducting W. R. C. installations each week day evening and visits six Corps this week. She gave up a trip to Rhode Island to come here last week, having received so urgent an invitation.

In referring to the recent installatory exercises of Storer Relief Corps, it is worthy of mention that Mrs. M. Evadne Dame, one of the color bearers who was installed on that occasion, will this week begin her eighteenth year as a bearer of Old Glory. Mrs. Dame, who is 76 years of age, has held an office in this organization for nearly a quarter of a century, having become a member Feb. 28, 1894. She has ever shown much interest in the Corps and been a regular attendant whenever possible. Although the weather was very stormy on the night the installation took place it did not keep her at home and no soldier carried a flag more proudly than did she at the exercises. She well deserved the tribute of appreciation paid to her by the past national president.

To those who remember Sam Walter Foss, or to the many who have enjoyed the verses of the late popular poet, will be pleasing to know of the plan for the erection of "The House by the Side of the Road" in his memory. His late home in West Somerville, Mass. Rev. George E. Heath, pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist church at that place, is directing the campaign for funds and it is hoped to raise $500. It is intended to equip the building as a demonstration center for scientific benefit of the students at the Boston University school of religious education.

Sam Walter Foss is lovingly remembered by many in this city, his boyhood home. He was graduated from the Portsmouth High School and wrote the class ode. No one was more popular in the class than he and Portsmouth can feel a just pride as well as Somerville to know that his memory is again to be honored, this time by the erection of a beautiful building, and with the name of his great poem which is a sermon in itself. Were we all to live by the teachings of that inspiring poem there would be more happiness every where.

President Martin of Boston University stated in a communication made public a few days since: "I regard the movement to erect a memorial to the author of 'The House by the Side of the Road' as a very fitting undertaking in which not only the city of Somerville, but the people of Greater Boston should have a vital and personal interest. It will be a monument of more than national interest, for this poem is known and beloved wherever the English language is spoken."

The Chase Home for Children, that worthy institution, at present has 17 inmates and a visit to the Home would convince any one that it is a happy little family. The situation is ideal for an institution of this kind and, although at present they are almost snow bound, in good weather the situation is most attractive and the children enjoy outdoor life, while the environment of the home is all one would wish.

Mrs. Sarah Hersey, the Matron, and assistant, Mrs. Bradlee, are most capable women and they well take care of this juvenile family. They have been at the home nearly two years and in that time there has been no epidemic of any sort among these children and only two have been confined to their beds with colds. When some of the children enter the Home they are often under-nourished but with the good wholesome food, much out of door life, and regular hours for sleep there is soon a noticeable improvement in their condition.

At present the snow is too deep for them to enjoy outdoor sports, but in a few days they expect to have a fine time with their sleds. Each Sunday afternoon the matron holds a short religious service for the inmates. The older boys tell Bible stories and all join in prayer and the singing of hymns. Occasionally some one comes from one of the local churches or Sunday schools on a Sunday afternoon and carries out a religious program and this all appreciate. Thirteen of the children go to church and Sunday school each pleasant Sunday.

Greenland, Jan. 9.—The severe snow storm on Monday night prevented the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association. It has been indefinitely postponed.

for the men and horses and only one road machine to keep the roads open. Sunday was the bleakest day we have had. It was all one could do to keep comfortable inside. Some of our men in town worked on the road machine all day. Kind neighbors furnished hot coffee for them. Too much credit cannot be given those who worked so hard to keep the roads passable to the homes of the two families in town where sickness and death have been the past week. Just as they had things well under way, along comes the worst storm yet, drifting and blocking the back roads where some of the road agents must shovel out to be able to get to the main roads where it is 14 inches on the level.

Look at This Beautiful Sedan

It's the Jewett Six for Year 'Round Comfort

Think of your family snugly riding along in weather you'd rather not talk about. All steel panel, weather-tight, Jewett body construction protects you. Roomy seats and easy cushions make you comfortable. Soft toned upholstery delights the eye.

The silent, well-oiled Jewett motor tells its presence only by the smooth movement of the car. You slow down at a crossing—almost stop. But you never think of the gear lever. Just the slight pressure of your foot and the Jewett Sedan is again going 25 miles an hour in seven seconds.

A hill looms ahead. You need run no risk by dashing up it, a little more pressure from your foot and the still quiet motor carries you up without slacking speed. How comes the Jewett by such ability?

Such unusual ability can have but one source—unusual power compared to weight. Jewett has 20% more power than any car its size. Its silence comes from a thoroughly lubricated motor. Jewett high pressure oiling system sends three gallons of oil per minute through all main and connecting rod bearings.

Silent efficiency—freedom from motor trouble—long motor life—are thus insured in the Jewett as in no other small car. Long life to the whole car is insured by rugged construction. It is the heaviest car of its size—not a flimsy light six.

Bring your family in to look over this Jewett Sedan. Ride in it. Drive it yourself. Feel the thrill of its big-car performance. Note the riding comfort of its rugged construction. It means much to own the only small six built by a maker of a leading big six.

CANNOT AFFORD DOUBLE PAYROLL

Boston, Jan. 10.—While representatives of the B. & M. system federation declared yesterday that they are seriously considering the "return to work decision" handed down by Labor Commissioner John S. B. Davis of New Hampshire, executives of the Boston & Maine railroad made it clear yesterday that "they are not seriously considering the matter." They have received a copy of the decision.

L. G. Coleman, assistant general manager of the B. & M. said: "We are not seriously considering the proposition. We now have a large number of men and even if we were seriously considering the matter where would we get the money to pay for a double force of men, as I take it that is just what Mr. Davis' decision calls for."

"When asked if there was any change in the status of the shippers' strike in consequence of the labor commissioner's report or otherwise, Assistant General Manager Coleman declared there was no change, and that matters stood as formerly."

C. S. Sevens, president of the B. & M. system federation said: "The New Hampshire shippers have turned the entire matter over to our executive board for a ruling. We are seriously considering Mr. Davis' proposition and still have it under advisement. Bear in mind we have always been ready to confer with the railway executives and have written them on two occasions for a conference, as we feel the public should not be inconvenienced and believe that such a conference would pave the way for an amicable settlement of the present strike, which would promptly pave the way for a restoration of decent railway service."

NO HOPE FOR SUBSIDY BILL

President Harding is Said to Appreciate its Position

Washington, Jan. 3.—President Harding has reached the conclusion that the Senate will not take action on the pending ship subsidy bill until it has disposed of rural credits legislation. This was acknowledged at the White House today. It was said that the President hoped that rural credits legislation would be disposed of within 10 days, and the ship subsidy measure given the right of way again.

The conclusion of the President seems to assure a withdrawal of any administration opposition to displacing the ship subsidy bill from its privileged position on the Senate calendar so as to make way for the consideration of rural credits legislation.

RAILROAD NOTES

The New York Central has sent its famous locomotive, 999, to the scrap heap. As far back as 1893 this engine, with Charles Hogan at the throttle, reached a speed of 112 miles an hour between New York and Buffalo. No other steam locomotive has ever run as fast.

There was a glamour, about 999 which even the swiftest airplane cannot dim. It made the Empire State Express a symbol for speed. Men who were small boys in the nineties must feel today a slight thrill at sight of the old magic numbers. How many thousands watched for 999 coming up the valley of the Hudson or driving west across the state.

Nine ninety-nine meant even more to the railroad men than to small boys and the public. Whenever the engine was brought into the shops for repair special mechanics were assigned to work on it, special tools were used to put it in good condition. The locomotive was built in 1892 in West Albany. It was rebuilt twice, once in 1905 and again in 1921. Beginning in 1913 it was unable to stand the pace on the main line and was put to pulling slow trains on a branch line running to the Pennsylvania mines.

The steam locomotive possesses a personality absent in the electric engine. The only reason for that perhaps lies in its being fed visibly, while the electric locomotive draws its power from an unseen source. Then, too, it more commonly has individual traits of crankiness or varying response, of dependability or erratic performance.

There was the Nashville locomotive, No. 230, which had a personality almost human. It killed an extraordinary number of passengers and ended a career of violence by suicide in the machine shop. A blown cylinder head and a crazy driving beam put an end to No. 230.

Nine ninety-nine was a good engine, a great engine. Nine ninety-nine was the aristocrat of steam. But all the time the scrap heap was waiting.

Cars loaded with revenue freight during the week which ended on Dec. 18 totaled 888,642. This was an increase of 162,064 cars over the total for the corresponding week last year, and an increase of 25,811 cars over the corresponding week in 1920. Due to the usual seasonal decline in loading, the total for Dec. 16 was a decrease of 31,746 cars under the week before. Movement of agricultural products is the greatest for this time of the year in history, exceeding by a considerable margin that for the corresponding periods both in 1921 and in 1920.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad have confirmed reports that it is planning to sell, under foreclosure, the properties of the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia Railway Company, which is controlled by the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Co., the latter being a subsidiary of its system.

An official of the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railroad has denied reports that the Southern Pacific was planning to obtain control of the road through the purchase of the company's stock in the open market. He attributed the recent advance in the stock to 87 1/4 from a low of 1922 of around 43 entirely to the good showing the company has been making in earnings. He pointed to the small turnover stock in the market as substantiating his statement that there is no foundation for reports that control of the road is about to change hands.

The American Locomotive Company has reported that it closed orders for 48,000,000 of locomotives during the closing week of 1922. This is the best week the company has had in many years. As a result of this new business the company entered the new year with approximately $45,000,000 business on its books.

Wall street was not surprised at the action of directors of the Pere Marquette Railway Company in declaring an extra dividend of 2 per cent. on the company's preferred stock. It had been predicted for some time by investors in close touch with the affairs of the company. The action clears the preferred stock of all its accumulated dividends. Regular quarterly dividends of 1 1/4 per cent were also declared on its 5 per cent prior preference and preferred stock. All dividends are payable February 1, to stockholders of record January 15.

By mutual consent of the two companies the order for 500 tank cars recently placed by the Union Tank Car Company with the General American Tank Car Corporation has been cancelled and an order for 500 tank cars placed by the Union Tank Car Company with the American Car & Foundry Company. At the present time the Union Tank Car Company is having 2000 new cars constructed. Of this number the American Car & Foundry Company has contracts for 500 new cars, Standard Steel Car Company 1,000 cars, and Cambria Steel Company 500 cars.

THREATENED BREAD FAMINE IS RELIEVED

The terrific storm, which buried the districts about Portsmouth and Dover in an immense blanket of snow on Monday night has emphasized in many ways the necessity of the P. D. & Y. and its service to the community along the line. Perhaps you would not think the road could have anything to do with your table supplies, but this morning it was a life saver.

The M. & M. Bakery has a great number of customers in Elliot, Kittery and Portsmouth. The roads to Dover were impassable for the big trucks that have delivered to these districts and it looked like a bread famine to the people in the outlying sections. But the management of the bakery were not to be outdone by any storm.

Receiver Meloon was asked what he could do to relieve the prospects of a bread shortage. It did not take him long to decide. He placed a special car at the disposal of the bakery and this was run to Kittery Junction, where it was met by trucks and brought into the city. The condition of the roads between here and Dover are such that it is hard to tell when regular trucks can make the run.

Meanwhile, the P. D. & Y. will see that the towns along the road and Portsmouth will not suffer for bread.

Alton, N. H., Jan. 9.—Louis Avery, well-known resident of Alton, died today at the Laconia Hospital from blood poisoning which was caused from a gunshot wound. Last week Avery was driving to Gilmanton when he overtook Howard Pack, 14, walking along the road. Avery asked the lad, who was carrying a shot gun, to ride with him. The horse became frightened and jumped, causing the gun to explode, the charge entering Avery's leg.

FARE LIMIT LAP IS GRATIFYING

Patrons of the P. D. & Y. on the South Berwick branch are greatly pleased at the action of Receiver Meloon in granting a lap in the fare limit at Brattle street. In the past, a patron riding from South Berwick Junction Y. to Great Works was forced to pay two fares and those travelling from Great Works toward Dover were in the same boat.

Receiver Meloon, after a talk with the conductor of the car serving that district, decided to lap the fare limit so that a passenger riding from Great Works or what is known as Wiggin's Corner, beyond Brattle Street or in the opposite direction, will pay only one fare. This is a great accommodation and saving to many who work at Great Works and live beyond the Brattle street fare limit.

NASHUA MAN DIES FROM AUTO CLASH

Nashua, N. H., Jan. 9.—S. Henry Dawborn, the victim of an automobile accident on the Daniel Webster highway Armistice Day, died today at his home, 286 1-2 Main street, the immediate cause of his death being an attack of pneumonia, from which yesterday he seemed well on the road to recovery.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Eulalie, and his mother, Mrs. Katherine Dawborn of Shirley, Mass., and several brothers and sisters. He was employed as a steamfitter.

KITTERY

Kittery, Jan. 10.—We are just getting out from under what we think was a pretty good storm. The P. D. & Y. couldn't buffet the storm after 4.30 Monday afternoon but early on Tuesday morning they had their track open and running on schedule locally. The people living in the Intervale section of town greatly appreciate the cleared space to walk in; it provides a way for them to be neighborly with their neighbors, conveys them to "our" little city across the river. The crust made walking hard on the unbroken roads and the children who had them, journeyed to school on skis or snow shoes which made it easier for them, also providing some fun. This weather is tough on the birds; if, when throwing out food for them, a fairly long board is laid down and the crumbs put on this they will not have to stand on the snow while eating.

Tonight, Strand, one night only, feature extraordinary. George Arliss in "Disraeli." A triumph of the photoplay. A treat we advise all to see. No increase in prices. The Boston Herald calls "Disraeli" the greatest photoplay ever made. Latest Fox News.

On Saturday evening, Jan. 13, D. G. S. Walter Pierce and suit of South Berwick will install the officers of St. Aspinquid Tribe, 104, at their Wigwam in Wentworth Hall. A large attendance is requested as a banquet will be served after the meeting. The Council fire will be kindled at 7 o'clock.

Tonight at the Strand that wonderful picture which all the leading newspapers of the large cities have praised so highly. A Brooklyn paper states: "Nothing finer has ever been seen on a Brooklyn screen."

Mrs. Arthur Cook and little daughter Frances has been the recent guest of Mrs. Robert Potter.

The no school signal will be given in the morning at 7.45 and again at 11.45 and will be 3 counts only. This does not signify for Traip Academy.

Joseph Brackett since taking charge of the restaurant formerly run by his father, has made many changes and improvements, having also made more room to allow space for tables. Mr. Brackett also takes a great interest in the boys of the town being one of the first to instruct and help them in their games, and the Academy boys have a great friend and pal in Joe. Now they have a headmaster who is interested in school sports and it will mean much to them. They are new in the basketball game, having played only two games, their first being against a team of which some of the players had had five years' experience and who were also heavier. Doesn't seem quite fair to our boys to put them up against strong teams before they have had any experience.

Last evening at the Second Christian church Rev. J. E. Everingham was the speaker, even though the weather was bad the attendance was good. These union meetings are being held each evening this week. The speaker will be Rev. J. W. Denton of the Advent Christian church of Portsmouth this evening. Tomorrow evening the service will be at the Second Methodist church. Rev. L. H. Thayer D. D., of the North church will be the speaker.

Representative George D. Boulter is passing a few days in Augusta, Me. This evening occurs the joint installation of Grange officers of the Ellet and local grange, and will take place at Ellet. Members will leave Wallingford Square at 5.30 by stage.

Herman Dahlberg who has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. Robert Potter, for the past two weeks has returned to Boston.

Harry Roberts left last evening for New York to attend the Auto Show. It looks as if the storm was not over yet.

Mrs. Bragdon announces the opening of a class in dancing for children at Wentworth Hall, Kittery, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 11, from 4 to 5.30. Private instruction by appointment. Tel. 748-J.

COLONIAL

GRIFFITH CREATES A NEW FILM COMEDIAN

"Romeo Washington" in "One Exciting Night" Brings Roars of Laughter From All.

D. W. Griffith has created another comedy character in his latest screen sensation "One Exciting Night," a United Artists release coming next Friday and Saturday to the Colonial Theatre, that at once takes rank with his other great comedy characters.

I was "The Little Disturber" in "Hearts of the World," according to students of psychology, who started the flapper craze in America. With her torn o'shanter, knee skirts and independent rough manner, The Little Disturber became a living character in American life.

This time Mr. Griffith has taken a negro character to mould into a living being that everyone immediately recognizes, likes intensely and laughs with him.

The player to whom this fortunate chance came is Porter Strong, and the new character is "Romeo," a good-natured black man, human and likable, with all the weaknesses at which humanity loves to laugh, and virtues that make him one that everyone likes also.

For years, Porter Strong has been a comedian with the Griffith company, occasionally playing "blackface" parts. He is a graduate of the old minstrel companies, playing with many of the great names of old. He was born in St. Joseph, Missouri, and as a youngster began entertaining his family with imitations of negro people.

KITTERY POINT

Kittery Point, Jan. 10.—The W. C. T. U. will be entertained by Mrs. Belle Hoyt on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Phreda Troit has returned to the home of her sister, after visiting relatives in Boston.

Mrs. Luther Lewis has been confined to her home with a bad attack of pleurisy the past few days.

Mrs. Ada Hayford and son Edmund have been visiting relatives in Salem, Mass.

The community social, which was held at the Community House last evening, was well attended despite the weather and walking, a social time was enjoyed by all in attendance. Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Berry were hostesses and served refreshments. Plans were made to hold one of these community socials once every month.

The Sewing Bee of the First Christian Church will meet on Thursday with Mrs. Myra Seaward.

Daniel Seaward, Charles Sawyer and L. H. Sawyer have been called to York by the death of their aunt, Nancy Frisbee.

Captain Frank Lawry is visiting his granddaughter in Portland this week. The Christian Endeavor prayer meeting of the First Christian Church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Emery on Tuesday evening.

Edward Lawry has been home from the Isles of Shoals Coast Guard station for a few days furlough.

The work committee connected with the Sewing Circle of the Congregational Church will meet with Mrs. Ralph Gunnison on Thursday afternoon.

Dorothy Tobey is spending her week with Mr. and Mrs. Addison Tobey of Islington street, Portsmouth.

The social connected with the First Christian Church, which was to have been held this evening with Mr. Haven Riley, has been postponed until a later date, owing to the bad walking.

Little Miss Evelyn Fiske, daughter of Rev. Miles B. Fiske, who has been restricted to her home with scarlet fever, is now nicely recovered and the family are out of quarantine.

Mrs. Pearl Short has been confined to her home with pleurisy the past few days.

The Board of Public Works are still struggling with the great quantity of snow that has accumulated everywhere. All of the efforts of the entire crew are being concentrated on the streets in the center of the city in an effort to make them passable. No attempt has been made to get the state roads open and it will be some days at least before very much work can be done in this direction, at least, so that there can be very much automobile travel.

Vaughan street had to be literally shoveled out and many teams were engaged in hauling snow from that street. Never has there been as much snow in the business streets, despite the fact that it has been carted away two or three times.

All truck service has been suspended and as a result the express companies are driven to take care of the perishable goods, such as meats, vegetables, etc., the bulk of which is brought here from Boston by trucks when the traveling permits.

The great need of a tractor for such weather as this has been demonstrated, as the trucks, no matter how powerful, will not stand up under the wear and tear of bucking such snow drifts with a plow in front of it. One of the city department trucks was disabled but there is still one in commission and doing yeoman service.

From Boston

Two prominent Boston society girls are shown here enjoying the sunshine of Florida. They are Miss Mildred Fleming and her sister, Helen. The latter is sitting on the sand.

GRAND OPENING OF TUESDAY DANCING ASSEMBLIES NEXT WEEK

Because of the constant demand on the part of our regular patrons that we restore the old time Tuesday dances, the management has arranged a series to start on next Tuesday night. For the grand opening "Ted" Wright's Orchestra who will be remembered by many because of their brilliant work at the recent Masonic Dance has been secured. This team is composed of ten musicians and despite the top heavy expense of this affair the management will not increase the scale of admission. This is the first time in this city that an attraction of this kind has been offered the dancers at a 50c admission and surely has the endorsement of all. Get ready for the big opening on the best dance floor in the city.

MRS. BENFIELD RESIGNS FROM SCHOOL BOARD

At the meeting of the Board of Instruction held on Tuesday evening, Mayor Ladd presided at his first session and Messrs. Toner and Goodman two members elected at the last election were present for the first time.

The resignation of Mrs. Ida P. Benfield as a member of the Board was read and accepted. Mrs. Benfield now being in Florida.

The special committee of the Chamber of Commerce on the Public Schools submitted their report to the Board and Messrs. Warren, Randall, Chaney, Brown and Walker, members of the committee were present and discussed features of the report with the Board.

The report of the committee carried with it one recommendation that a competent outside authority be engaged to make a survey and report on the educational part of the school, the committee feeling that they were incompetent to make any suggestion or criticism in this direction. Their report was more to do with the financial management of the schools. The committee arrived at the conclusion that Portsmouth was behind some of the cities of its size in school matters; that this city is paying its women teachers less than similar cities and towns. That the per capita cost of schools in this city is the lowest of any city in the state or any of the Massachusetts cities from which statistics were received. That the expenditure for up-keep of the plant was too small.

There was considerable informal discussion and at the conclusion on motion of Mr. Gooding the Board expressed its appreciation of the excellent report of the committee.

The annual report of Supt. Clayton was made and this included the report of the Headmaster of the High School. The Superintendent recommended an increase in the maximum salaries of women teachers of the high school to $1500 and of the Junior High to $1300 and that certain salaries of the elementary teachers be equalized.

He recommended that an appropriation of $500 be made for the dental room to supplement the sum of $250 which has been secured by the Parent Teacher Association.

He also recommended extensive repairs to the buildings, to the interior of the High school and new furnaces for the Haven and Whipple schools.

Headmaster Gray's report stressed the large enrollment and the need of making provision for the estimated enrollment next fall which will be over 800. His report on the work being done in the colleges by the students who graduated last June, was very good with the exception of the New Hampshire College where there has been more failures for either lack of work or preparation.

DRAW SPAN TESTED TO TOP OF TOWERS

The draw span of the new Memorial Bridge was run up to the top of the towers on Tuesday afternoon for the first time, and everything worked with out a hitch. The 300 foot span went to the top of the 180 feet towers with no effort apparently on the part of the machinery and while no effort was made for speed it reached the top in a remarkable short time.

The bridge crew are now engaged in making certain changes in the counter weight boxes, changing over the testing concrete blocks to solid concrete. The American Bridge Company will have about a month more work on the bridge, clearing away their machinery, taking down their derricks from the top of the towers etc.
